

Date: 29 October to 1 November 2018

Venue: Bangkok

Course fee: aprox. 1550 EUR, GIZ
and partners aprox. 1350 EUR

*including training materials and documents,
lunch and snack throughout the training.

No. of participants: max. 22

Biodiversity for Human Well-being

This course provides an overview of the most relevant developments, concepts, and practical tools in biodiversity conservation and management in the context of international cooperation.

The aim is to familiarize participants with the international framework of the Convention on Biodiversity (CBD) as well as concepts and approaches for its implementation at national level. The course provides insight into current challenges as well as opportunities and related tools in technical and policy advisory services. The interactive setting offers a forum for the exchange of experiences.

Learning Objectives

After the training course, participants will

- have a sound understanding of the concept of biodiversity and the linkages with human well-being;
- be familiar with the international policy framework: the CBD and its Strategic Plan 2011-2020;
- have an overview of concepts, tools and examples of biodiversity conservation used in German Cooperation;
- have discussed challenges and trade-offs among conservation needs and development interests.

Methodology

Trainers will provide key facts and concepts, participants' learning will be stimulated by a mix of methods, including

- presentations by trainers on political and implementation concepts and examples;
- interactive exercises to bring out key observations;
- group work for intense exchange of experiences;
- facilitated discussions in plenary;
- an excursion (1/2 day)

© GIZ / Ranak Martin

GIZ Training Bangkok

Cooperation Partners

This training was developed by the GIZ Sector Programme "Implementing the Biodiversity Convention" on behalf of the Federal Ministry for Economic Cooperation and Development (BMZ) in cooperation with the GIZ Academy for International Cooperation and the Sector Network Rural Development (SNRD) Asia, which subsidizes the training implementation. The material was developed in close cooperation with the International Academy for Nature Conservation Isle of Vilm of the German Federal Agency for Nature Conservation (BfN).

Participants will receive an information package including the PPT library, an annotated bibliography for further reading, and a photo documentation of the course.

The excursion (1/2 day) provides participants with the opportunity to deepen their understanding of the challenges and opportunities in making biodiversity conservation work.

Participants are invited to bring and share own examples and documentations.

Who should attend this training?

This basic course has been designed for practitioners and technical staff from government and sector ministries, NGOs and civil society, advisors and consultants.

The training course will be held in English. A good command of spoken English is required for effective learning.

About Us and Our Training

We are part of GIZ's Academy for International Cooperation, providing access to high-quality training-related services in various sectors and competencies. The training is based on non-profit cost-recovery basis. "On-request" courses can be organized for groups to take place at dates and locations of your convenience.

Contact us

Academy for International Cooperation / Narumon Laohakangwanvit (narumon.laohakangwanvit@giz.de)

Programme 'Implementing the Biodiversity Convention' / Eva Axthelm (eva.axthelm@giz.de)

Sector Network for Rural Development SNRD / Nicole Bendsen (nicole.bendsen@giz.de)

Registration

<http://training.thai-german-cooperation.info/index.php/training/2-training/336-biodiversity-conservation-for-human-well-being-29-october-1-november-2018>

© GIZ / Ranak Martin